“Walking is good.
You follow track...you sleep,
wake in morning to birds,
maybe kookaburra.
You feel country.”

Bill Neidjie — Bunitj clan

Kakadu National Park covers an amazing 20,000-square-kilometres, and is on the UNESCO World Heritage List in recognition of both its outstanding natural values, and as a living cultural landscape.

Aboriginal people have inhabited Kakadu continuously for more than 65,000 years, tracing back in time to before the last ice age.

The best way to experience Kakadu is to take time in the environment.

Experience country, eat by the camp fire, wake with the birds, breathe in the air.

Kakadu has lots of park-run camping areas for you to enjoy, or you can book into a commercial campground or caravan site.
